The jury in the Lentger trial, at Chicago, did not agree a bit better than did the bone experts.

Over sixty vessels loaded with wheat have left San Francisco for Europe within the last two months and six more will sail soon.

Gentlemen looking for a business that is entirely safe and which pays well on the capital invested seem to be flocking into train robbery.

Colonel Ed. A. Rogers, of the Prescott Courier, has been quite ill for some time, but has now so far recovered as to be able to resume his "taxless tour."

A Boston poet has sent a poem to one of the papers, entitled, "Oh, let me die at home!" The editor has promised to let him, provided he keeps away from his office.

Section 546, of the Penal Code of this territory, should be strictly enforced.
Had it been in the past, such cases as those of E. C. Cook, "Little Steve," Fred G. Hughes et al., would not occur.
No man who frequents the gaming tables is fit to serve the public in any capacity where he handles the people's money.

A Spanish general of distinction says that it will be crime to send further Spanish reinforcements to Cuba, as a war that has involved the destruction of two hundred thousand men cannot be concluded by the shipment of twenty or thirty thousand more. This is a sensible view to take of the situation from a Spanish view point.

"The First Thanksgiving Dinner," "Lillian Bell's First Days in London," and "When Dr. Whitman Added Three Stars to our Flag" are among the reading features of the November Ladies' Home Journal. The first tell of the most historically important dinner in America, at which Indian chiefs were guests and at which oysters were first eaten by white men. Miss Bell finds much in London to inspire her pen to its smartest activity, and the descriptions of her sight-seeing tours, her impressions and experiences fairly sparkle with wit. Dr. Whitman's service to the United States in saving Oregon, Washington and Idaho from the British are acknowledged in an article which follows the first women across the continent, and the first whites over the Rocky mountains. Magician Kellar writes on "How I Do My Tricks," showing how simple is their solution when it is known.

The second article on "Inside of a Hundred Homes" is more attractive and rich in suggestions on furnishing and fitting up a home than was the excellent inaugural one of the series. It presents fifteen views. Edward W. Bok advises young married people against living in a hotel or boarding-house, points out the beauties of the small courtesies of life, and expresses hearty approval of the renewed interest in sewing—woman's truest accomplishment.
Alice Wellington Rollins introduces a new and charming character in fiction in the first of her Philippa sketches—"The Mistakes of Philippa"—and Clara E. Laughlin contributes "The Revelation of Christopher," a story of strong human interest.

Francis will be delighted with the musical feature, "Poet's Dream Waltz," by Richard De Koven, author of "Robin Hood" and "The Song of the Lark." The story of the life of the poet is more than a fable.

The present condition of the wool market is unique. The American wool industry has recently recovered from the greatest depression it ever experienced. During the free wool period flocks were decimated, machinery was stopped, mills were shut down, and stocks of dry goods throughout the country were depleted, but when the prospect of a liberal tariff upon wool became imminent, foreign wools in large quantities began to reach our markets and in the period immediately preceding the enactment of the present tariff law, wool imports attained a magnitude never before reached in the country's history. This immense supply of wool was looked upon in the light of a surplus and the opinion prevailed in some quarters that it would be long before its absorption could be accomplished.

It was not long, however, before mills resumed operation, wheels began to turn, stocks moved, prices advanced, and prosperity returned. Contrary to all expectations, a very decided scarcity developed and is now very appreciably felt. In many instances suitable stocks are really difficult to obtain except at a decided advance on current quotations.

This condition is contrary to the expectations of many prominent wool men, who feared a much more disastrous result to the domestic industry from these unusual importations. "Importing point" seems a more evasive quantity than ever. The opinion is freely expressed that when our market shall have advanced sufficiently to reach what appears now to be the importing price, foreign markets will have advanced correspondingly and we shall be as far from general importations as ever. The situation is full of surprises, however, and it may be that a decline will ensue before it is expected.

Cattle Supply Deficiency.

[Texas Farm and Stock Journal.]

For some time it has been evident to those who best know the supplies of range cattle and who have kept up with the marketing of stock that there are not only not enough beef cattle in the country, but that the deficiency is very considerable. They differ only as to how long the deficiency will exist, a few thinking men estimating that the ranges will grow up to the demand in four years, while others set the date ten years ahead. Either estimate is probably erroneous, but it is not improbable that the latter is more nearly correct than the former. A very large proportion of the cattle have gone to the shambles during recent years. If there were enough producing cows in existence now it would take three to four years to very greatly enlarge beef production beyond its present status, but to bring it up to the demands of the consumption here and the growing foreign consumption will require more mother cows than those now in existence and much of the replenishment must come not only from the heifer calf crop of the springs of 1898 and 1899 but probably the crop of 1900 and even later years will be called on to make good the deficiency.

One fact that will delay the growth of a supply as large as the greatly enlarged market demands is the growing increase of calf sales. In sales both sexes go to the market and these sales will increase steadily, it is thought by many, because of diminishing range area and for the other reasons.

Spain's Answer.

In a special note to United States Minister Woodford, the government declares Spain has done all in her power to end the war in Cuba and cites the many sacrifices which have been made by the nation, the number of troops sent to Cuba and reforms which are being carried out in the Island, which are fully described. The note ends with the statement that "Spain will not admit the right of any foreign power to interfere in any of her affairs."

El Tiempo publishes with reserve the announcement that the reply of the Spanish government to the United States does not stop sailing filibustering expeditions from American ports.
Spain will re-establish the right to search vessels anchoring in Cuban waters.

Economy.

[Indianapolis Journal.]

"I would stop drinkin'," said Mr.
Lushforth, "but I can't afford to."
"Can't afford to?" echoed the man who was so coerced.
"No. Stop drinkin' wife would get a new hat. New-hic-hat, have to have new dress to match it. No tellin' where would end. What'er goin' 'tave?"

An upright position is easier than a stooping one because it is more natural and one part is better supported by another so it is easier to be an honest man than a knave.

The True Remedy.

W. M. Repine, editor of the "Chief," says: "We won't keep house without Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. Experimented with many others, but never got the true remedy until we used Dr. King's New Discovery. No other remedy can take its place in our home, as in it we have a certain and sure cure for Coughs, Colds, Whooping Coughs, etc." It is idle to experiment with other remedies, even if they are urged on you as just as good as Dr.

King's New Discovery. They are not as good, because this remedy has a record of cures and besides is guaranteed.
It never fails to satisfy. Trial bottle free at St. Johns Drug Co's drug store.

A RELATIVE BY AFFINITY.

[Our Animal Friends.]

As my wife and I, at the window one day, stood watching a man with a monkey.

A cart came by, with a "broth of a boy."

Who was driving a stout little donkey.

To my wife I then spoke, by way of a joke.

"What's a relation or yours in that carriage?"

To which she replied as the donkey she spied!

"Ah, yes, a relation, by marriage!"

LOVE'S BEGGAR.

[Harp's Magazine.]

Who is not loved lives not at all.

And knows not either joy or woe;

And lest such fate should him befall

He came a beggar, louting low

"I bend," said he, "that I may live;

I bow before the one I prize.

That the alms I crave may give Drawn from the treasury of her eyes."

Who begs for love but wastes his speech

When far too humbly he implores;

He sets too high above his reach

The being whom he thus adores.

And so, though courtly were her ways,

A veil of scorn her visage bore.

Indifferent to his prayers and praise,

She turned the beggar from the door.

The beggar was not overshrewd,

And perfect love had made him blind;

Not his to see a changing mood,

Not his to fathom woman's mind.

For she in musing on his fate

Felt pity for the suitor spurned.

And she turned to him with a smile to stop the sale of the Union Pacific, at least until the conditions of the sale can be changed so as to make them as fair to one set of bidders as to another, but there seems to be some doubt of his authority and more of his inclination to interfere, after Rosa Hanna had told the Huntington ring that the sale should be put through under the old agreement, although the government will lose millions of dollars by the sale under present conditions.

Sight-seeing in London.

"Under these circumstances we took our first drive down Piccadilly, and Europe to me dates from that moment," writes Miss Lillian Bell from London to the November Ladies' Home Journal.
"The ship, the landing, the custom-house, the train, the hotel—all these were mere preliminaries to Europe."

WASHINGTON LETTER.

The Platt-McKinley Deal in Regard to New York.

[From Our Regular Correspondent.]

WASHINGTON, October
